When In Rome --

-- Do As Americans Do

(A TOWNSMAN Newsfeature)

There's an old expression, "When in Rome, do as the Romans do," but apparently that old adage has changed and in the Eternal City, it's been changed to "When in Rome, do as Americans do."

That seems to be the substance of our latest communique from the TOWNSMAN'S Rome correspondent, George F. Snyder, formerly of Maple Avenue, now in Italy for a year, teaching at an American University there and collecting educational materials to be brought back to his post in the social studies department in the Winchester school system.

Mr. Snyder, in his latest communication, informs that Moratorium day was observed in Rome, with little response, that America's space efforts are watched eagerly by the Italian people, and there is great support for America's efforts regarding the Vietnam war.

His letter, received this week by the TOWNSMAN reads:

"Italy's 'hot autumn' labor wise culminated yesterday, Nov. 19, in a general strike which paralyzed business, agriculture, industry and transport for 24 hours and involved 20 million workers.

"This was the third strike within 12 months and the avowed purposes on this occasion were spiraling rents and lack of sufficient low-cost public housing.

"Contrary to strikes in the states, mailmen, bank tellers, bus drivers, etc., strike for a day or two occasionally, rather than a prolonged work stoppage in any particular work area.

"The Communist party, through its leadership in the labor unions, is seeking to discredit the Christian Democratic Party which at present has the top leadership control in the country. General elections are due here next spring, however, it is unlikely that the P.C.I. will gain control in the country since the rank and file of the Italian people are really anti-Communist.

"The people of this country are very enthusiastic about the space accomplishments of the United States--display Apollo 11 stickers on windshields of their cars and currently are following every maneuver of the Apollo 12 mission.

"Nov. 15 - Moratorium Day - was not an eventful one in Rome. Oh! yes! Some long haired American students-activists, liberals and some quite far left in political thought, sought to gain an audience in their small groups but attracted very few of the local population. The Italian people, as a whole, greatly respect our stand against Communist territorial expansion and sincerely believe that a moratorium or immediate withdrawal of American troops would have catastrophic consequences.

George and wife Edith, who have been residing on the university campus while seeking an apartment, finally found a new address,

The 1970 Tax Rate? It's Anybody's Guess

The 1970 tax rate is bound to go up, based on preliminary budget projections made this week by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin.

Austin submitted his budget Monday to the selectmen and finance committee in conformance with the town manager charter and showed increases totalling over $1,300,000.

The manager commented that the budget could go up further, based on several items not as yet settled, such as salary increases for employees, the snow removal account not being included, and the town's share of the cost for the Regional Vocational Technical High school not as yet received by the town.

The town's operating expenses for 1969 were $9,537,598. Predicted costs at this time for 1970 are $10,865,246.

The town's educational budget is up over $1,250,000, in the preliminary stage. The budget for 1969 for the school department was $4,990,521. It is anticipated that the '70 budget will be $6,306,956.

The school budget does not contain the finalization of negotiations with personnel on a new salary schedule. This includes not only the professional staff, but the custodial and secretarial departments as well.

The completion of negotiations will have a further reflection on

New English Department Head Named

The newly appointed head of the English Department at Andover High School came to the school just this September with seven years of experience as a department head and principal, and graduate study with Marshall MacLuhan.

But ideas, not the medium are the message, according to Miss Marie Theresa Marzullo, who was unanimously approved Tuesday night to fill the department head vacancy created by the June retirement of Miss Beatrice Stevens.

Before her graduate study in Fordham University's Communication's Arts Department under John Culkin and MacLuhan, author of the controversial book, "The Medium Is The Message," Miss Marzullo had taken a B.S. in English at Fordham in 1960, had won the Robert Coe Fellowship, for a year's study in Yale University's American Studies, and earned a master's degree in English at St. John's University in New York City.

For the past seven years, Miss Marzullo has been department head, then principal of Sacred Heart Academy in Hamden, Conn. She also took a seminar in administration at Boston University this summer.

The appointment of Miss Marzullo, on the strong recommendation of Principal Philip Wormwood,

Hope For Decorations By Weekend

The downtown Christmas lighting display has been held up by two electrical firms rejecting the job of stringing the lights at the last minute.

Glenn Harvey, division manager for the Andover Chamber of Commerce reported Wednesday that an electrician had been retained that morning and that hopefully the lights would be strung and illuminated by this weekend.

The chamber official said the merchants regret the lateness in having the downtown illuminated, but the last minute turning down of the project by the firm created the problem.

There will be an increase in the number of lights this year and the chamber is hopeful of extending the area covered.

He Knows The Way To San Jose

Bill Meyers, as the song says, knows the way to San Jose -- and that's exactly where he is taking his Harvard University soccer teammates to the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship semi-finals beginning today.

Pill, son of Dr. and Mrs. Milton J. Meyers, of Alden Road, has all sorts of records at Harvard, among them amassing ten shutouts as goalie.

The Crimson won the Eastern regional title last Saturday, when once again Meyers came through with a shutout, this time in a double sudden death overtime against Hartwick College.

His expert defense, enabled the Harvard club to capture the eastern crown and go into the national championships, today and Saturday in San Jose, Calif.

Soccer, becoming increasingly popular, brought a new dimension to the New England sports scene as the Harvard club passed the quarter final test last Saturday. The semi-finals today and the finals Saturday, will be watched closely by an increasing number of fans in this area.

Saturday's win was Meyer's fourth straight shutout. He has set a number of records at the Cambridge school.

He began his soccer at Pike school, where he was a student beginning in the sixth grade.

Learning his soccer at Pike, Meyers went on to Choate school where he was a goalie and cap-

PA Students Chop Wood To Help Home

By Helen Eccles

A home for retarded children, which an Andover church is helping to build, is getting an extra boost from a group of Phillips Academy students.

The home now a-building is the Bethany Home for Children, under construction near Lexington, to be run by the Sisters of St. Ann, an Episcopal Order of Nuns.

The local church is Christ Episcopal Church, which is dedicating all the proceeds of this Saturday's Christ Church Fair to the Bethany Home.

The Phillips Academy volunteers all come from the "Mid-dler Cluster" - an experimental two-year grouping of Phillips students together in a cluster of three adjacent dormitory buildings, for both of their middle (10th and 11th grade) years. The aim is to see if a close sense of community can be built within the larger school community, through close cooperation of the "cluster's" house-masters, and through the members' working together and participation in the cluster's own projects -- social, recreational or wood-chopping, which is to say, community service.

ASSISTING A CAUSE. PA students who helped to clear the site of the Bethany Home for Children and saw the wood into logs, to sell at the Christ Church Fair on Saturday, for the benefit of the home for retarded children.

How did the three get together? Christ Church this past year committed itself to helping to launch the home for retarded children being initiated by the Episcopal

Then Christ Church parishoner Meredith Price, a PA English instructor and cluster housemaster, passed on to students in the cluster his interest in the down-to-earth project, and they looked for a down-to-earth way to help.

A busload from the cluster was soon off with Price to spend the day clearing the site for the new home, and another idea sprouted -- why not saw the wood into logs, to be sold at the Fair, to swell the proceeds for the home's construction?

It must have been an exceptionally satisfying day for the hewers of wood, for an even larger busload set forth the following week, under the cluster's head house-master, Kelly Wise, for more chopping and sawing.

So "genuine Bethany logs" will be offered for sale at the Christ Church Fair on Saturday. One of the St. Ann's nuns will display samples and take orders, with the admonition that Bethany wood is green wood, and needs a season of aging in the back yard or cellar for optimum results. Otherwise where there's fire, there'll be smoke!

Meanwhile, back at the Cluster on the PA campus, there were signs that help to the Bethany Home for Children was not to be a one or two-shot affair, but a continuing community service project. Housemasters Wise and Price have informed Bethany's head that the cluster can furnish manpower for more of the same, or other projects to help launch the home, in partnership with Christ Church, to whom the volunteers look for transportation help.

voices of children. They look forward to presents and vacations from school to enjoy and play with their new toys. However, the Massachusetts Department of Public Health reminds parents and other adults that they must select safe toys for youngsters to insure against mishaps or accidents that will mar Christmastime for a child or for his family.

To children, toys can be tools of creative experience as well as play things, therefore educational toys make excellent gifts. They permit the child to gain new skills, develop muscular and mental coordination while adding to his store of knowledge. These are especially wise choices for older children. For the younger tot, it is important to think twice before giving a toy that has small parts that can be taken off and placed in the mouth, nose or ears. Little children love to suck and bite on toys which means care must be taken to select something that has no harmful chemical painted on surfaces.

Some toys will definitely require parental supervision. These include toys that require electrical control or have electric motors or equipment. Space-age toys that have parts that are shot off into space or contain pointed, sharp projectiles can also present danger by striking a sensitive part of the body, such as the eye.

Traffic safety must be a consideration in the purchase of a sled or bicycle. Ice skates, another popular gift, concerns outdoor safety. Children must be constantly cautioned of the dangers of thin ice.

Remember that most youngsters will be trying out new gear during the school vacation. This means that car operators, in fact all adults, must be extra cautious, as children rarely think first when it comes to play.

Prompt disposal of all plastic bags or containers, in which toys may be packed, is strongly recommended. This will eliminate any chance of a young child being suffocated.

A word about guns as a gift. Naturally this can never be considered a toy so before giving one keep in mind that this is something for an older child and not a youngster. Consider his sense of responsibility and realize that this gift requires constant watchfulness on the part of parents. A necessary accompanying present should be a membership in one of the numerous gun clubs. Check locally for free courses in gun handling that may be sponsored by the police, a firearm company or a civic group. Proper instruction and strict supervision is absolutely necessary before anyone is allowed to handle a gun.

Safety measures should also be taken in the home with Christmas trees and decorative lighting arrangements. Fire departments constantly stress care regarding overloading circuits and turning off all lights when no one is at home. Also make certain that a real tree is kept in water or at least kept moist to compensate for drying out. A real tree is dangerous if it is kept in a home longer than two weeks. Purchasers of metal trees are warned not to string electric lights on it. Electrical shock to the touch, or house fire can result. Floodlight a metal tree if you wish, but attach no electrical wiring to it.

This first-time project will contribute life-saving blood through the Andover Red Cross to the Massachusetts Red Cross Blood Program for the holiday needs which always far exceed the supply. The bloodmobile will be manned by student volunteers with the usual Red Cross adult supervision.

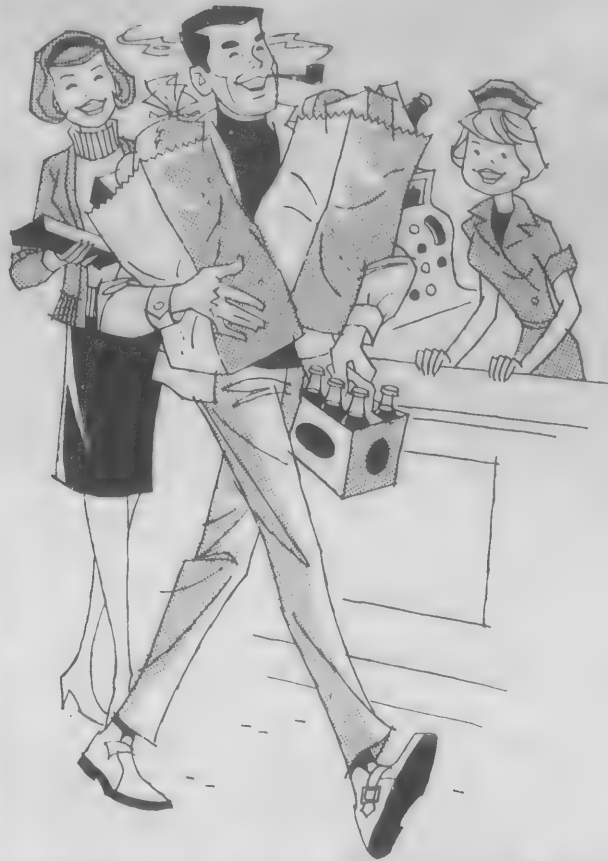

It is expected that there will be many first-time donors as the minimum-giving age is 18 years. The young people will appreciate donations from the adult community and persons may now give through their sixty-sixth year.

To reach Isham Infirmary, one turns off Main Street onto Phillips Street and takes the first left hand road which leads directly there. Walk-ins will be welcomed but appointments may be made by calling the Andover Red Cross Chapter, 475-1496.

tory of the Merrimack College Bowl Team, according to television listings for this Saturday.

The 2:30 p.m. G.E. College Bowl, a delayed rebroadcast on Channel 4 Boston, is being scratched to make way for a special Saturday professional football broadcast. Merrimack rolled to its second victory on the nationally televised program against California State University at Fullerton. The program was scheduled to be shown to audiences in Massachusetts this week.

The performance of the Merrimack College team has generated considerable interest in the Merrimack Valley and at the North Andover campus. The Merrimack Valley Western Electric Division donated contracted advertising space in the Lawrence Eagle-Tribune and the Haverhill Gazette as a public service and tribute to the Merrimack College team. Students diverted funds to provide bus transportation to New York to boost the team and alumni and faculty with television sets capable of receiving the live program on Channel 10 (5:30 p.m. Saturdays), have opened their homes to student audiences. The college administration has issued an appeal to Boston's NBC network to consider a local showing of the program. It is the first time in the 16 year history of the program that a Merrimack Valley college has participated and Merrimack's successful record is among the best recorded by a Massachusetts college in recent years.

Last Saturday Merrimack's four seniors, David DeFillippo of Lawrence, Gerald Murphy and Joan Warchol of Haverhill, and Michael Rossi of East Longmeadow, combined their talents to overpower the California team 240-185 in the final minutes of play. In their first contest on Nov. 22, they beat Pacific Lutheran College by a score of 195-125. Saturday they will take on St. Mary of the Woods College of Terre Haute, Ind. in a game which will be broadcast live at 5:30 on Channel 10 Providence.

Amid reports that college donors are uptight pending interpretation of the encyclopedic Congressional tax-reform bill, the Merrimack College Corporate Support program continues its upswing.

Capital Distributing Co., Inc., of Andover and the Sears Roebuck Foundation helped bring the program to the $30,000 mark with separate grants to aid the Merrimack College program. The program has received strong support from Merrimack Valley business and industrial leaders in 1969, according to Rev. John R. Aherne, O.S.A., Merrimack president.

"This support is especially encouraging in view of the tight-money economy and proposed tax-reform," Father Aherne said. "It is apparent that business does not consider this activity philanthropy, but a good investment. Grants such as Capital's and Sears Roebuck's will greatly enhance the educational opportunities for many students from the Merrimack Valley."

Capital Distributing Co., Inc., became the 66th donor to the Corporate Support Program at Merrimack when representatives from that company presented Merrimack president Rev. John R. Aherne, O.S.A. with an unrestricted corporate gift.

North Essex Administers Test Battery

Northern Essex Community College's Division of Continuing Education, named official test center for the General Educational Development Testing Program by the State Department of Education in 1968, administered 25 batteries of the GED tests Nov. 21 and 22. Five hundred and thirteen persons had previously been tested at the center.

Each of the adults who successfully completes the series of five tests may apply for a High School Equivalency Diploma. The issuance of the diploma solely based on the results of GED test scores dates from July, 1967 Massachusetts State Department of Education policy. Other states have similar programs.

Examinees for this test session were from Andover, Beverly, Bradford, Byfield, Haverhill, Lowell, Methuen, Newburyport, Topsfield and West Newbury. The youngest was 19 and the oldest 56. Among those tested who met the Massachusetts requirements was Michael Mizer of Andover.

Norman Landry, examiner for the test center, said that the tests are given periodically at Northern Essex on Friday evening and Saturday. The entire battery of five tests can be taken in about ten hours. Those wishing to take the tests file an application, available at the college, and are notified of the next test dates.

LIVING WITH YOUR HEART

Massachusetts Heart Association

Very often the cardiologist is unable to learn enough about a patient's condition solely from listening to the heart or by taking electrocardiograms or X-rays. Modern technology has provided a way for him to find out more.

Through a technique called cardiac catheterization cardiologists now have the opportunity to diagnose heart disease by studying the internal anatomy of the heart and its blood vessels and to see how various parts of the heart, such as the valves or the muscle, itself, are functioning.

The physician proceeds as follows: a small tube, called a catheter, about as thick as a strand of spaghetti, is passed through a vein or artery, usually in the arm, until the tip of the tube reaches the chambers of the heart. The tube is opaque to X-rays, and thus if the patient has been placed under an X-ray fluoroscope the physician can see the tube and guide it to where he wants it to go.

Because the tube is hollow, he can with proper instruments measure the pressure in all parts of the cardiovascular system and, at the same time, withdraw blood samples from the heart itself to determine the content of many substances, such as oxygen, in different parts of the heart.

At other times certain dyes can be injected into the catheter to block the passage of X-rays and thereby outline a portion of the heart or blood vessel. The subsequent patterns on the fluoroscope then can be filmed and the "angiogram," or movie of the heart, can later be studied in detail.

By utilizing these basic principles, the physician can "map" the heart. The recording of unusually high pressures in certain chambers of the heart but not in others can give clues to blockages in the circulation through the heart. Leaky heart valves can be seen when radio-opaque dye in a heart chamber goes "the wrong way" following its injection. The physician can also detect unusual pathways through the heart (so-called cardiac shunts) poor contraction of the heart muscle or blocked arteries (as are seen in coronary heart disease).

Often the status of the heart muscle itself as a pump is in question. Is the muscle weak or strong? Cardiac catheterization gives the cardiologist the opportunity to assess the function of the heart by determining how much blood it can pump in a minute or how quickly the muscle can develop pressure during any beat. Finally, cardiac catheterization has permitted a study of the chemistry of the heart since samples of blood leaving the heart muscle itself can be examined by placing a catheter in the appropriate vein of the heart.

The procedure of cardiac catheterization is not required in the vast majority of heart cases, but when certain diagnoses are in question or if surgery is contemplated cardiac catheterization may be essential. Most surgical procedures and often proper planning of medical treatment can be based upon the detailed information that is obtained from the different aspects of the cardiac catheterization.

tain of both the soccer and baseball team in his senior year. The Choate soccer team was undefeated during his participation. During his Harvard career he has put on a brilliant defensive display in goal and this year aided the club in putting together a 14-0 record going into today's game.

The team left Monday morning for the west coast and the national competition.

In addition to his duties of keeping the ball out of the net, Bill is also doubling as a correspondent for a Boston newspaper.

Working at the paper during his college days, Meyers, was called upon to send back daily reports of Harvard's soccer activities in the finals, which he most assuredly was willing to do.

BUDGET

the budget. The same is true in other town departments. Police, fire and public works personnel are currently engaged with Town Manager Austin in negotiating new contracts dealing with wage and fringe benefits.

The town manager noted that he is awaiting a survey conducted by Evans Associates, expected by Dec. 15, regarding the review of the wage scale for municipal employees.

Among municipal department increases is a $5,000 increase in the elections and registrations account to accommodate state elections scheduled for next year.

The addition of a full time clerk in the tax collector's office is recommended. At present a secretary works part time in the collector's office and part time in the recreation department.

Replacement of equipment in the assessors office is also among the manager's recommendations.

An additional request is made for the town counsel's account to accommodate for overdraft of accounts due to an increased case load this past year.

To be considered in the final budget preparation is the opening of the public safety center, probably in February. Combined custodial, heating, electricity, repairs, etc., will have to be taken into consideration with the opening of the building along with all other municipal structures.

The police department has requested additional personnel to provide necessary manpower to handle the new police facility when it opens. There is also need for additional funds in the police department and fire department accounts to provide for state-imposed time and one-half pay for persons filling in on sick leave, vacations, or recall service at fires etc.

Additional personnel has been requested for the fire department, and the manager has this matter under study.

The snow removal account has not been included in the preliminary budget, the manager feeling this item can be inserted at the time of the annual town meeting, when it will be a more valid figure, based on experience up to that point.

The park department account is flexible at the moment, since the manager and Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of schools, are discussing maintenance of school grounds. The school department is considering maintaining its own property.

The street lighting account is to be increased from $62,000 to $70,000 with the manager indicating he will make specific recommendations regarding this account at a later date.

An increase in the staff of the engineering department is also under study by the manager, who indicated that he agrees there is need for assistance in this department.

An additional $20,000 will be requested to provide fill for the sanitary landfill disposal site.

The effect of the cost of nursing homes is reflected in an increase in the Veterans Services department. This year the town budgeted $54,669 and in 1970 will plan on a cost of $63,653.

The conclusion of the town manager's preliminary presentation states, "the town manager plans to submit later recommendations for improving the administration of the town organization. These recommendations will have an effect on the budget."

Asked about the possible tax increase due to the increased costs, Austin said he would not even hazard a guess at this point, noting the several intangibles, plus a lack of knowledge at present on new valuation.

The manager did comment, however, that, "there is little question the rate will be up in 1970."

Lose 10 Lbs. In 10 Days On New Grapefruit Diet

This is the revolutionary new grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Literally thousands upon thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S. and Canada. Word of its success has spread like wildfire, because this is the one diet that really seems to work for most overweight people. A well known Toronto columnist recently praised it to the skies. He reported losing 20 pounds quickly and easily long after he despaired of ever getting down to his wartime weight of 165 pounds. All this without cutting out the occasional beer or rye. If it is followed exactly the average overweight person should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. There will be no weight loss in the first four days. But you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. There after you will lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1 1/2 pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all there should be no hunger pangs. Now revised and enlarged, this new diet plan lets you stuff yourself with foods that were formerly 'forbidden'. Such as big steaks trimmed with fat, Southern fried chicken, rich gravies, mayonnaise, lobsters swimming in butter, bacon, fats, sausages and scrambled eggs. You can eat until you are full, until you can't possibly eat any more. And still you should lose 10 pounds in the first 10 days, plus 1 1/2 pounds every two days thereafter until your weight is down to normal. The secret behind this new "Quick weight loss" is not generally known. Fat, it has been theorized, does not form fat. Perhaps fat fights fat. And the grapefruit juice in this new diet might act as a catalyst (the "trigger") to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted foods listed in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. When the fat and bloat are gone you will cease to lose weight, and your weight will remain controlled. A copy of this new and startling successful diet plan can be obtained by sending $3 to The NAPCO CO. Box 1388, Grand Island, Nebr. 68801. Unconditional money-back guarantee. If after trying the diet plan you have not lost 7 pounds in the first 7 days, another 6 pounds in the next 7 days, and 1 1/2 pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $3 will be refunded promptly and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim attractive figure of your youth, while still enjoying hearty breakfasts, lunches and dinners. Order now before others snap up the limited supply. -Adv.

New Holiday Display Opens At Planetarium

Something new has been added to the traditional holiday Planetarium show which opens Wednesday, Dec. 3 at Boston's Museum of Science. This year the Hayden Planetarium reveals Santa's Workshop and the busy life of the elves at the North Pole. One has built a moon spaceship, another runs a steam engine. Another dances before a candle-light tree. Santa himself finally appears, looking just like the "right jolly old elf" Clement Moore described in "The Night Before Christmas." The Planetarium show, "The Star in the East," begins with a view of the sky over Boston on Christmas Eve, 1969. Just after sunset that evening appears a relatively rare spectacle -- a parade of the planets, Mercury, Mars, and Saturn. The moon comes up just one day past full, and the Northern Cross is upright on the horizon, instead of being tilted as in other seasons. Sirius, brightest star in the winter night, and Orion with its nebula of distant light, add excitement.

Then the Planetarium telescopes time to show the Judean sky at the period of the first Christmas. In a different latitude from that of Boston, the sky over Bethlehem holds the most mysterious star of all, the one the Magi followed. The program suggests some of the explanations astronomers have suggested for this star, which still remains a symbol of the Christmas story.

The Christmas Star continues to shine as the Planetarium program shifts back to New England, a snow-covered village, and the sound of carols from a white-steeped church.

"The Star in the East" is given

Editorial Comment

Recreation

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin has requested and been given approval of a full scale study of the town's efforts in the area of recreation.

The study could prove beneficial.

Within the town at present are town-sponsored and privately operated recreational activities.

A thorough study of the programs and a co-ordination of effort can only benefit the town, in that all efforts in the particular area will provide the utmost for the town's residents.

Several years ago, a full-time recreation department was approved by town meeting. The department took over responsibilities which were formerly operated by a non-paid appointed committee.

Activities have increased since, several programs being initiated.

In addition, there have been several organizations which have instituted recreational programs, for young and adult.

With today's leisure time, the urge toward physical fitness, a study is needed, to see if enough programs are being offered, and if there is sufficient co-ordination of effort.

While making mention of the study, we might also applaud the manager's suggestion that the committee be composed of persons willing to serve, rather than resorting to a consultant, which other town committees have done in the past.

Here, in Andover, there is ample opportunity to take advantage of the many recreation programs available to all. Again, the minority seem to gain headlines, those getting into trouble. But for the most part, all of the programs go along well, and provide the needed release from the day-to-day routine.

For the non-participant, there can be no complaint, for the opportunity is there.

The study, we think, will prove that Andover has provided well for its citizens, and that possibly only proper co-ordination and a course for the future is needed.

While on the subject of recreation, we might also make comment on a news note last week concerning North Andover's recreation program.

The Boosters club in the suburban town, conducting its youth league football banquet, through its president, William McEvoy, noted that it expended in the vicinity of $135,000 over the past several years on youth programs. The money was derived through public subscription.

Mr. McEvoy is also chairman of the town's recreation council, which annually provides for a summer recreation program for the youngsters of the community.

The same council provides a basketball clinic with professional athletes during the summer.

Possibly, the Andover recreation study committee, when organized could converse with the North Andover officials and find out what they are doing right, and what might save Andover a few dollars in the area of recreation.

The Budget

Andover's municipal budget, in its preliminary stages, shows an increase of over $1,250,000 over a year ago.

It was presented this week by the town manager in conformance with provisions of the town manager charter.

Taxpayers, we are sure, can find in it little to be happy about.

The new town manager has done his best to provide a guideline for the town in anticipation of the budgetary presentation to be made at town meeting in March.

There appears little doubt taxes will rise.

What was presented this week is possibly a low figure, since some costs have not even been considered.

What is contained in the budget are varying costs, such as salary increases, bonded indebtedness, interest charges, all built in from previous years.

The tax picture for 1970 is indeed bleak.

Not considered in the budget presentation this week are such items as snow removal, the Evans report regarding a wage survey for municipal employees and negotiations with school personnel.

Snow removal costs? Who can tell. We can recall a town meeting when the highway superintendent was asked how much snow the town would have to plow the following year. It brought the house down, particularly in view of expert weather forecasters being unsure of themselves even the day before a storm.

Negotiations continue between firefighters, police and public works personnel and the town manager regarding wages and working conditions. The Evans report will have a reflection at the bargaining table.

School department negotiations continue, as the town already faces an estimated education budget over $1,000,000 higher than a year ago.

All these must be taken into consideration.

There is ample evidence that the costs of our municipal operation will only go upward in the year ahead, unfortunately.

Marblehead

With due apologies to the author of the letter that became famous through the columns of the now defunct New York Herald Tribune, we make the following comment:

"Yes, Marblehead, there is a Santa Claus."

Last week, the school department in the North Shore community, now feeling it spoke before thinking, has allowed Santa Claus, Christmas and Hanukkah, back in the classroom.

An original ban on the holiday festivities, with reference to separation of church and state, was quickly rescinded as the vocal majority of the community let their feelings be known.

Schools were not to observe the holidays, under a ruling made by school authorities, then rescinded.

We commend those who spoke up and had the fortitude to let it be known that children still look for Santa, that those of particular religious persuasion, still look toward their God.

Recent efforts toward such activity have been deplored, as evidence by comments about the ban on prayer in public schools.

With the world as it stands at the moment, when a Christmas tree can't shine in a public school, when Santa Claus is barred from the school building, then it will not be the children alone who will be in trouble — we'll all have had it.

Of The Top

Of The Desk

Ah, Yes! That season finally arrived this week.

Thankfully, as the writer returned to work Monday night, his vehicle followed a sanding truck over Route 125, North Andover and Elm street in Andover, the gritty substance giving safe traction.

As we looked about there was a bit of white stuff decorating the countryside.

Assuredly winter is here, although not officially until later this month.

Forecasts are for 12 days of precipitation this month, according to a computer service, but isn't it better to have the anticipation, rather than the predictability?

There was a bit of nostalgia Monday night as some of the television networks replayed a newsfilm of the first draft lottery held in 1942.

So often seen in theaters in years past was the newsclip of that first occasion when President Franklin D. Roosevelt addressed the nation, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson picked out the first capsule and an exuberant mother, proud that her son first chosen, was shown to the nation.

Lowell Thomas narrated the film, which we are sure, was seen throughout the nation.

It brought back a bit of yesterday, in a sense, and referred to the lottery originated this week for the current draft.

Sec. Stimson incidentally, was a graduate of Phillips Academy. His office at that time, known as Secretary of War, has since become a cabinet post designated as Secretary of Defense. Stimson served twice as Secretary of War, and once as Secretary of State. He was a trustee of the academy for many years and one of its dormitory buildings is named in his memory.

The Registry of Motor Vehicles advises that current registration plates being used in 1970 will be validated by decals which are being issued with the 1970 registration certificates. The decals may be affixed to current registration issued with the 1970 registration plates at any time prior to Jan. 1 provided that the 1970 registration is made by the same registrant for the same registration plates.

If the current registration certificate does not agree with the registration certificate for 1970, then the decal cannot be affixed to the vehicle until January 2, 1970.

When affixing the decals, drivers are asked to read the instruction envelope and place the decals to the right of the word MASSACHUSETTS in the upper right corner of the registration plates.

As usual and traditional, the area has become aglow for the Christmas season.

Holiday lights have been illuminated by municipalities, including Andover, giving added feeling, even lustre, to the traditional holiday shopping period.

While it seems early, it somehow seems to add a brightness to all, which suddenly is darkened, once the holiday displays are removed immediately following New Years.

The problem of litter is fast becoming a major problem in America. According to Conservation News, American motorists dump tons and tons of litter on every mile of the nation's vast network of highways. This expensive habit costs the taxpayers nearly one-half billion dollars annually. Besides the cost, littering increases fire hazards and public health problems, and drastically reduces the enjoyment of the environment.

Despite the efforts of public agencies and private property owners, litter can be kept at a minimum by cooperation of each

An examination of preliminary municipal costs indicates next year's tax rate could rise $3.

The Andover Hockey Association's Bantam "A" hockey team will conduct a door-to-door canvass of the Town of Andover on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 6 and 7, to raise funds for its fourth annual Canadian Tour of games. This marks the fourth consecutive season that the top Andover Bantam team has been invited to represent Andover in a series of games with Bantam teams in the Canadian Province of Ontario. Over the past two seasons the Bantam team, which consists of boys 13 and 14, has won seven of the eight games played in Canada. Last year's Andover team swept the four game series with each victory coming by way of a shutout. This year the team will leave Andover on Friday, Dec. 26 and will return the following Wednesday. The tour will include games in Toronto on Saturday and Monday of that period and in Kitchener, Ontario, on Sunday and in Oshawa, Ontario, on Tuesday. In addition to the games scheduled for the team to play, (Continued on Page 23)

Do You Want To Know Why? READ THIS!

We were just as surprised as Mrs. W. who said: "I got your catalogue and thought those toy prices were awfully low so I went to G., Z. and T. to compare and do you know yours are the lowest in the area?"

Well after this happened four times the day after our catalogue was delivered, we began to believe it. We were busy of course, but we thought everyone was. But when we checked our cash register and found we had a 300% increase in sales, we really believed it.

So why don't you shop the toy stores and then come to COLE'S to save just like Mrs. W. -did?

P.S. Our prices aren't "3 days only" specials. Prices will be the same until Christmas.

P.P.S. Besides toys, we also have a beautiful Gift Shop, a large Trim-Tree department, tools, radios, and T.V.'s, appliances, etc. We know you'll be surprised at the price of these items also.

P.P.P.S. Our apologies to those disappointed when we ran out of stock. More is on the way.

Merry Christmas

several other educational and recreational activities have been planned for the boys. Among these activities, some of which are still tentative, are a National Hockey League game between the Toronto Maple Leafs and the St. Louis Blues at Maple Leaf Gardens, a visit to the Hockey Hall of Fame, a tour of the Ontario Science Center and various other tours.

Plans have also been developed for the Andover team to visit patients at the Toronto Children's Hospital during their stay in Canada.

The players who will make the trip face the responsibility of raising all of the necessary funds for the trip. They hope to raise the bulk of the required $2500 when they canvass the town on Saturday and Sunday. To do this they will offer to residents memberships in the Andover Hockey Association for which minimum dues are $1 per year. Other than for the donations received the team is unsponsored and is responsible for supporting itself. The team members will be dressed in their hockey uniforms for easy identification.

In addition to the Canadian tour the team will play an extensive schedule of games in this general area. Home games are played at Phillips Academy with the first home encounter slated for Saturday, Jan. 3 at 6 p.m. The Wachusett Bantams of Worcester will provide the opposition.

At the conclusion of the season the team will compete in the New England Bantam Tournament.

individual. Litter prevention calls for education at an early age, and a continuing campaign of public education.

A recent litter clean-up was conducted along the Ipswich River by scouting groups, interested clubs and individuals working with the Audubon Society. They manned 80 canoes and picked up several truckloads of debris. In some states, groups of hikers pick up litter along scenic trails and carry it out in packs to dispose of litter properly, and maintain the natural beauty of parks and forests.

The usual crop of Christmas trees have arrived and are on sale at various roadside stands. Many a truckload was deposited last weekend and we witnessed a few being brought to "the hearth" so to speak.

We mention hearth only in reference to home, since the real hearth is probably about the most dangerous place to place the traditional Christmas decoration.

If any of your shade trees need pruning, this is an excellent time of year to get the work done. There are several reasons why pruning is advantageous. Lack of foliage makes it easy to see what pruning is needed to improve the health and appearance of the tree. During the winter, soil conditions usually are such that trampling of workmen or even the use of powered equipment, will cause no appreciable injury to the lawn.

The greatest amount of plant cell growth occurs early in the spring. Thus, the natural healing of winter pruning wounds through callous formation begins soon after the cuts are made. This shortens the period of time that wood-decay fungi may enter the tree through open wounds.

The rather slight inconvenience of Monday's snow and ice, brought on further difficulties to motorists, who found their cars coated with the whiteness of salt used to combat slippery conditions.

Tuesday morning there was many a white-slicked car and whitened roadway, as work crews labored to make pavements safe for transportation.

Harry Sinden, coach of the Boston Bruins, was recently quoted as saying he had run out of adjectives in describing the actions of Bruins superstar defenseman Bobby Orr.

We certainly agree. The young man is truly poetry in motion as he moves up ice with the puck.

His every move is a graceful and a well-executed advance.

As we go to press this week, the young man is leading the National Hockey League in scoring, and is well on his way toward becoming the first defenseman in history to lead the league.

Barring injury, Bobby Orr, should continue to add to his collection of trophies this year, having already won a number of awards in previous seasons.

As of this writing early this week, prior to any further Bruins games, Orr has a league-leading total of 35 points, and based on average could surpass other scoring records.

but also found that heating of same is slightly different here than in America.

He notes:

"One definite adjustment is the difference in heating of apart-ments. The central heating unit, as of now, is turned on from p.m. to 9 p.m. since Nov. 12. The 'portiere' (custodian) says when the weather gets 'multo' friedo' (much more cold) we will have heat from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Of course, freezing tempera-tures are rare in Rome - as a matter of fact even now the midday reading usually registers in the upper 60's or 70's, but the morn-ings and evenings are quite chilly.

"The 'Barbiere' (barber shop) is open six days a week, includ- ing Sunday - Monday is the day the shop is closed.

"Italian males are as particular concerning their tonsorial prob- lems as women are concerned about their beauty appointments.

"If you desire only a haircut you say 'solo tagli i capelli' - otherwise immediately upon finishing the trimming, you find yourself in the midst of a sham- poo, then 'lozione' (tonic). Upon application of the tonic, the hair is combed to the patron's wishes, then a hair net and a dryer ap- plied so you might say the hair had been set.

"We hope to celebrate Thanks- giving in the old traditional 'New England' way with turkey, 'and the fixin's' with some of our Ameri- can friends in Rome, but 'Gob- blers' as well as roasting pans are rather scarce commodities in the Eternal City.

"TOWNSMAN issues of Septem- ber and October have been re- ceived, and thoroughly enjoyed."

Management Series Set

The man who was corporate planner for two of the nation's fastest growing companies -- Xerox and IBM -- will be the featured speaker in a new series of management seminars jointly sponsored by Boston University and Associated Industries of Mass- achusetts.

A unique aspect of the series, which starts Dec. 11, is that the four one-day conferences will be held in four different locations, so that business executives in more remote areas of the state will have an opportunity to participate.

Known as the "Commonwealth Management Education Confer- ences," the series also will bring to Massachusetts four of the top conference leaders in the nation to discuss the management problems which a recent A.I.M. survey in- dicated are of greatest concern to Bay State executives.

The first session will feature Michael J. Kami, former Xerox Corp. vice president and cor- porate planning director of IBM, at the Yankee Drummer Inn in Auburn. Mr. Kami, a nationally- recognized authority in the field of planning, will conduct a semi- nar on "Planning for Tomorrow's Growth."

The Central Massachusetts Em- ployers Association has joined in the sponsorship of this initial ses- sion.

Registration for individual ses- sions or the entire series is be- ing handled by the Executive Pro- gram of BU's College of Business Administration on 685 Common- wealth Ave., Boston.

Other seminars will be on Jan. 27 in Attleboro, March 31 in Northampton, and May 7 in An- dover, and will cover employee motivation, time management, and

Noted P. A. Administrator To Retire

James R. Adriance

Phillips Academy has announced the plans of Assistant to the Headmaster James Ruthven Adriance, 6 School St., for an early retirement this June, in order to work full-time for ABC-ISTS (A Better Chance -- Independent Schools Talent Search) headquartered in Boston.

Adriance will be assistant director of development for ABC-ISTS; will be seeking additional sources of financial support for the program, which has placed over 1000 academically promising boys and girls from educationally disadvantaged backgrounds in the 100 independent schools which make up its membership. Adriance spent six months of his sabbatical leave in 1968 working for ABC-ISTS.

A PA alumnus, 1928, and a 1932 graduate of Yale University, Adriance has served Phillips Academy as teacher and administrator for 35 years, while his residence in the Andover community is marked by service as director and past president of the Andover Youth Center, past chairman of the United War Fund, and director of the Lawrence Community Chest, among others.

Adriance was director of admissions for Phillips for eleven years, executive director of the Alumni Fund and, since 1958, his present post of assistant to the headmaster. He also served as clerk of the board of Trustees.

The national character and open scholarship policy of the local boarding school have meant that "Spike" Adriance's administrative positions representing the school for parents, alumni and friends of the school, and his work recruiting scholarship students, have entailed extensive traveling for the Adriances throughout the country.

"STRETCH" PEARSON SAYS:

This has also meant, according to Headmaster John M. Kemper, that "Spike and Nancy Adriance ARE Andover, to hundreds of people whose interest in the school is enhanced by their friendship with the Adriances." Kemper said it was fortunate for the school that Adriance would still be available for "occasional missions." The Adriances will be making their home in the Boston area.

The ABC (A Better Chance) Programs for which the Adriances are leaving Andover, have a particular relevance for the town of Andover, and its three secondary schools.

ABC-ISTS was born on the Phillips campus, in 1963, at a meeting of independent school representatives. They were concerned that thousands of deserving and talented youngsters were being left out in the rising competition for college entrance, because of the inadequacy of their schooling. Headmaster John Kemper is a director of ABC-ISTS.

From the beginning PA has led the nation in number of ABC admissions, and Abbot Academy was one of the first girls' independent schools to support and join the ABC-ISTS, when the program included girls.

Andover High School is also an ABC pioneer, in the extension of the program to public schools. Andover was the second community in America to establish an ABC House, now in its third year. The Andover High School student body this year includes 12 ABC students.

Drug Abuse

New Hope For Narcotic Addicts - The 'NARA' Program

Treating and rehabilitating narcotic addicts successfully has been hampered by the fact that the addict was often treated in a hospital far from his home community.

Usually also, he was not adequately followed up and helped with his problem after release from the hospital.

Means for overcoming these and other deficiencies are provided in the Narcotic Addict Rehabilitation Act of 1966 -- known as NARA.

Congress established a new national policy through NARA. It calls for the treatment of narcotic addicts rather than solely prosecuting them under criminal statutes.

For the first time, Federal law provides that narcotic addicts may apply for treatment in lieu of prosecution for certain crimes and that addicts not charged with a criminal offense may also be committed to the Public Health Service for treatment and rehabilitation.

NARA thus set in motion a new nationwide program for the supervised treatment and rehabilitation -- an aftercare program of three years' duration -- of addicts in the community.

The National Institute of Mental Health, Division of Narcotic Addiction and Drug Abuse is responsible for the examination and treatment of patients committed under provisions of NARA.

How is it working? A look at five "case histories" suggests that the program is off to a good start.

Robert J. started using barbiturates in reform school when he was 15. At nineteen, he was a high school dropout -- and heroin addict.

Jose H. is 32. He started using heroin at 15 and has been using it intermittently ever since.

John P. has been an addict since he was 19. Now 26, he found his "habit" costing him $35 a day at the peak of his addiction; and he stole checks to support his addiction.

Bill M. is 30 years old and has a 10-year history of drug abuse. Once he was sent to jail to "kick the habit." Merely jailing him didn't work.

Another heroin addict, R.R., had been stealing $25-30 daily to pay for the drug. His family, consisting of his wife and three children, had broken up.

Before NARA, there would have been little hope for the rehabilitation of any of these five individuals. Typically, they would have remained hooked on hard narcotics, stolen more and more to pay for their drugs, been jailed repeatedly.

Likely, they would have been dead within a few years from an overdose of drugs, which happens frequently among narcotic victims.

Moreover, the five, it is estimated, would have stolen $82,800 in cash or merchandise to support their habits since the time they entered the NARA program.

Now, each of them has been free of drugs since at least May 1968. Two of them have been rid of their habits since the fall of 1967. All are either gainfully employed or receiving training; and one is attending college part-time.

Among the first to receive treatment under NARA, they were given six months of intensive inpatient treatment at an NIMH clinical research center. On discharge, they went into intensive rehabilitation programs established in their home communities. Local agencies were contracted with by NIMH to provide the services.

Currently, 58 such programs have been set up in 55 U.S. cities in 37 states. More are being added almost daily.

Now enrolled in the total program are 268 patients.

The number is growing and by summer of 1970 is expected to reach 2,000 patients, according to Dr. Sidney Cohen, Director of the Division of Narcotic Addiction and Drug Abuse of the National Institute of Mental Health.

Admission to NARA is always through the Federal courts. In some cases, addicts themselves request commitment proceedings be started. In others, they elect commitment to treatment rather than face prosecution on Federal criminal charges.

So far, the program has had a low dropout rate. Dr. Cohen attributes this to two factors mainly: the personal attention and intensive service received by the patients and screening out of addicts who show little hope or desire for successful rehabilitation.

The program already is paying dividends in economic savings as well as social ways, according to Dr. Cohen. He estimates, for example, that "for less than $1 million (the cost of the aftercare program to date), thefts required to support the habits of the addicts receiving rehabilitation have been reduced by $1.6 million -- a savings of $600,000."

The savings are calculated on the basis of findings by the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Justice which indicate how much the average addict must steal daily to support his drug habit.

Far from all addicts will ever be as outstanding beneficiaries of the program as R.R., mentioned earlier, but his case is encouraging and hope-bringing to others.

He was a heroin addict for nine years before entering NARA's program. After intensive treatment at NIMH's Lexington center, he went into his community aftercare program, in Detroit, following four weeks of psychological testing and vocational evaluation there. He took part in self-help group therapy and was placed for employment in an automobile production plant.

Since he began his therapy, he has paid for renovations on his home, purchased an automobile, and assumed full family responsibilities for his wife and three children. He also became an active member of his community's social organizations, helping groups on youth and drug problems.

As do all NARA patients, R.R. will remain in his aftercare program for 36 months. The chances of his completing the program and maintaining his progress are good, say the program authorities.

For a free folder on the NARA program, write to Box 1080, NIMH, Washington, D.C. 20018.

In the United States, the minimum age for entry into apprenticeship is usually 18, but no less than 16, according to the U.S. Department of Labor. In Austria, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, France, West Germany, the Netherlands, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom, few apprentices start later than 16, and some begin their training as early as 14.

(received from her school), she won stake classes at the show.

To Receive Equestrian Honors

Debra-Sue Giles

Janice-Elaine Giles

This Saturday evening, Dec. 6, at the annual New England Horsemen's Council Banquet of Champions to be held at the Sheraton-Eastland Hotel in Portland, Maine, the Misses Debra-Sue and Janice-Elaine Giles will be awarded honors for high points acquired in their respective classes this past summer.

Ten-year-old Janice-Elaine receives the Reserve Champion ribbon for pet pony under saddle and pet pony in harness sharing the honor with her fabulous Welsh pony, Frisky G. They have made a winning team at many outstanding shows this past season. At the Deerfield, N. H. Fair show she won all the pet pony divisions; pet pony under saddle, pet pony-trail, pet pony in harness and was the Grand Champion pet pony of the show. Also, with a broken hand, (received from a fall at school), she won the open and stake classes at the Horse-In-the-Pines Show, Norton, on Saturday, Oct. 18 and at the Cumberland, R. I. show the next day, she won the blue ribbon (first) in pet pony under saddle, pet pony trail, and pet pony Championship.

Janice-Elaine has done well on her walk-trot pony, Bobby's Girl, in equitation under 11 and 14 years this year - having placed in the top ribbons every time she entered. Receiving a 60 at the Eastern States Exposition Fair Show in Springfield in September out of 19 top competitors in the under fourteen equitation division was a big thrill as well as winning the top ribbon over many older riders in the equitation Championship class at the Topsfield Fair.

At the Mass. Horsemen's Council Banquet of Champions held in Auburn, two weeks ago, Janice-Elaine and Frisky G were awarded a trophy and Champion ribbon for pet pony in harness, and was Reserve Champion in pet pony under saddle. She also received a Reserve Champion ribbon for equitation under eleven.

Starting late in the season on her new horse, Shady Oaks Sea Raven, and her first year riding as a Senior, 15-year-old Debra-Sue did very well, finally ending up as a Reserve Champion in New England and the South Shore Horsemen's Councils and third place in Massachusetts. She won 11 championships and nine Reserve Championships at the various shows she participated in this past summer. At the last six affiliated shows for the 1969 season, she was either champion or Reserve Champion. One of her outstanding wins was the fourth place ribbon she received in the equitation championship at the Eastern States Fair Show, in a class of 24 highly competitive riders. Debra-Sue also won the American Horse Show Association's Qualifying Saddle Seat event the first time out. Her saddle pony, the Colonel's Charmer under Debra-Sue's skillful guidance placed well whenever shown this year and was the Reserve Champion in Massachusetts and South Shore for 1969.

Debra-Sue and Janice-Elaine are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. Lincoln Giles, 1 Old South Lane, and the girls are under the guidance of George McGrane formerly of Connecticut, trainer at their Happy Hollow Farm in North Andover.

at 8 p.m., at the post headquarters on Park street.

Many prizes will be offered during the evening, including turkeys, hams, food baskets, and a variety of other items.

Refreshments will be served and admission is free.

Among committee members who have been working on the affair include Commander Benjamin M. Brown, Thomas Connolly, Peter O'Hagan, Elmer S. Ober and Garrett Burke.

NEW PARKING LOT. Workmen apply a hot top surface to the Lally property in Elm Square, finishing off a new parking lot in the downtown area.

To Name Principal Shortly

Announcement of the new principal for the South School is expected at the next School Committee meeting, on Tuesday evening, Dec. 16, at Bancroft School.

The committee spent most of this Tuesday night's meeting in executive session, interviewing each of the four local candidates and the three from outside the system. This is a normal procedure before final choice of a new principal.

The school committee looked a little surprised, but not displeased, when they learned from the new superintendent, Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, that his own purpose in having the candidates each talk to the committee was not just to find out school committee preferences. It was more, he said, to give Assistant Supt. Vaughn Clapp and himself, before they made their recommendation, a chance to observe how each of the candidates interacted with the school committee which he'd have to work with, if appointed.

In other words, not only was the candidate on trial before the committee, but the committee was on trial before each candidate.

Another new note was discussion over whether the sessions should be executive or open to the press and public. The decision was for executive session, with Mrs. Virginia Cole and Dr. Daniel Frishman voting for closed session, William A. Doherty voting against it, and William King abstaining.

South School teachers were among the visitors, and one rose to express pleasure that South School teachers had also been involved, along with the administration and school committee, in choice of their new principal. Each candidate has been interviewed by a group of South School teachers. The final candidates for the position are those who not only applied for the job, but submitted their written estimate of how they would affect the position and the educational program of South School.

Local contenders for the principalship are Robert Deacon, West Junior High guidance counselor, Sumner Fox, Bancroft sixth grade, Robert Mirisola, Sanborn School grade five teacher and George Walsh, Stowe School teaching principal.

Final candidates from outside the Andover school system are John Coyle, Richard Daley and Cosmo Sansone.

Coyle is a graduate of Boston State who has advanced degrees in education from Salem State and Boston University. His experience is in the Beverly Schools, where he has been teacher and principal, and in principal of the Washington School at present.

Richard Daley is a Boston College education major with graduate work at Salem State and Northeastern. He has taught in Lincoln and Lexington schools, in grades 5 through 8, and core and remedial reading and is presently a team leader in the Lexington system.

Sansone holds a B.S.E. from Bridgewater State, with an M.S. in Administration and curriculum from the University of Connecticut, and graduate credits in guidance and special education from Bridgewater State and U Mass. He has had teaching and administrative experience as teacher, audio-visual coordinator, supervising principal and acting superintendent in Marshfield and in Buckland, Colrain and Shelburne Regional School District. Since September he has been management placement counselor with the Ethan Allen Personnel of New England.

Before retiring into executive session to face the principal candidates, the school committee approved the appointment of Arthur Melanson, as a sixth grade teacher at Sanborn School, to replace Patricia Foley Karl, who is on maternity leave of absence. The committee also approved the appointment of Donna J. Marcotte, at a salary of $6700, plus $500 differential, as substitute for Miss Isabel Phelan, while she is recovering from illness.

Mrs. Jeanne D. Hansen and Mrs. Eleanor Lustig were also approved, as tutors for the perceptually handicapped, at $5 an hour.

As an environmental control measure, International Nickel is erecting in Canada the world's tallest chimney -- 1,250 feet high -- at Copper Cliff, Ontario. The chimney's base will be 100 feet in diameter; the top, 40 feet.

Valley Association To Hear Castle Reading Consultant

The Merrimack Valley Association for Children with Learning Disabilities will meet on Monday evening, Dec. 8 at 8 p.m. at the Ballard Vale United Church in Ballardvale.

Due to the tremendous interest shown at the September meeting, the organization will sponsor a return engagement of Alan J. Pratt, M.A., Ph.D., an Educational Consultant for "New Dimensions in Education," an organization of educators who provide teaching-learning materials geared to achieve maximum learning potential. Mr. Pratt, recently seen on the "Today" television program, will describe and demonstrate "Alpha One" and "Dimension 99" which is a supplementary reading program which uses science to induce reading competence. It is multi-media, intersensory, and inter-disciplinary and is used for conventional, remedial and enriched curriculum reading objectives.

The Merrimack Valley ACLD invites everyone interested in serving the large percentage of children with dyslexia, learning disabilities or perceptual deficiencies to meet with them. The organization includes parents, teaching personnel, doctors and school administrators, whose aims include sensitizing the public, informing the parents and serving communities in whatever area necessary. The local chapter is an affiliate of state and national organizations and as such requests public support for State of Massachusetts as well as Federal legislation, both pending in Congress.

An ever-increasing number of school systems have established programs dealing with the identification and remediation of children of above average to superior intelligence recognized as having dyslexia, perceptual handicap or specific language difficulty and must be taught through a somewhat different approach.

An executive board meeting was held last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Page of Andover. Chapter President Raymond E. Sparks of Chelmsford presided at the meeting. The board includes: Dr. Raymond E. Sparks, Mrs. Robert Sanborn, Mrs. E. Russell Lawton, Mrs. Neal Mitton, Mar-

Be honest now! How many had to reach for the bicarbonate last Thursday?

The annual Thanksgiving feast is always sumptuous, but despite past experience, how often do we all fall prey to the tempting table filled with food, then for a while after regret the gorging and devouring we did.

Scholarship Drive Planned By West Andover Group

The West Andover Community Association will once again conduct its annual drive to provide scholarships to graduates of Andover High school.

The organization began its scholarship program five years ago and has provided over 15 students with assistance since beginning the program.

This year, the group plans to bring the attention of the townspeople to the scholarship program, by placing a float in the annual Santa Claus parade scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 13.

Harold Cookson, who headed the first scholarship drive five years ago, will once again be chairman of this year's program.

With the exception of last year, the organization has raised funds for scholarships through a special drawing conducted in the spring of the year.

Last year, due to new laws regulating drawings the group could not conduct the awarding of prizes to those wishing to contribute to the annual drive.

This year the West Andover group has applied for a license as a non-profit organization and will once again offer several prizes, over 100 in all, to those wishing to assist them in their scholarship program.

Mr. Cookson noted that the group has set a goal of $2,000 for this year.

Norman Vignola chairman of the parade float committee and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Craig are chairmen of the special gifts committee.

Assisting Cookson on the committee are:

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund LaFleur, also assisting with special gifts; Mr. and Mrs. Roger LaFrenier, Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Sirois, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barr, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Alosky, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Loosigian, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bibeau and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Vignola.

Leaf Pickup To Conclude This Week

Due to manpower and winter weather conditions, this will be the final week for pickup of leaves.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin said this week, that members of the public works department have been making the pickups at the roadside for the past several weeks with the special machine designed to pick up deposits made at the curb.

Such activity will be unable to be continued after this week, the manager said, due to the increased activity in other areas requiring the attention of the public works employees.

The ancient Romans used lead in paints, water pipes, and for the lining of wine vessels. Bones of the Romans have concentrations of lead that indicate lead poisoning, which may have contributed to the decline of the Empire.

DEPARTMENT

with the 100% endorsement of the superintendent, would seem to indicate that the audio-visual hardware which was part of the high school's original equipment, will get a real workout, with a direct effect on the choice and use of audio-visual materials, probably in more than just the English Department.

Miss Marzullo believes that education should not "write off", but utilize the visual world, such as the visual language of film that speaks so powerfully to the young people who are growing up in it.

However, high schoolers who hope that books will be scrapped for flicks in English classes, are in for a disappointment, since Miss Marzullo does not agree with what is widely regarded as the essence of "MacLuhanism" - which is that the communications media themselves are more important than the messages they impart, and that such "linear" communication, such as books, are just about obsolete.

Despite her interest in film, and the fascination of study at Fordham under such renowned AV mentors as John Calkin and Marshall MacLuhan, Miss Marzullo still came out a booklover.

She regards the various media as important parts of the process, but the end product - ideas - most important.

She said the English Department hopes to interest students in expressing individuality intellectually, as well as in the easier ways - mode of dress, etc. The aim will be toward intellectual creativity and relevance.
